Many Bonds Sold By Cavalcade

Led by a police escort and the band of Lawrence Post 15, American Legion, the Mighty Seventh War Loan Cavalcade arrived here Wednesday evening at 5:30. Large crowds were gathered on Main street, and traffic was diverted from the center of the town as the vehicles proceeded up the hill and lined up on Main street.

Included in the Cavalcade is a German 25-ton Mark 4 tank, an amphibious "duck", an amphibious jeep, a cut-away P.T. boat engine, an Air Forces jet bomb of the type now being employed against Japan and a collection of booby trap exhibits put together and demonstrated by Seabees. Traveling with the show is a group of Army and Navy men who have served overseas.

A platform was erected in front of the Town House, where a bond rally was held in conjunction with the Seventh War Loan. Louis S. Finger of the Andover Savings Bank introduced Major Alex Smith, in charge of the Cavalcade who spoke to the group. Veterans, fresh from overseas, gave eyewitness reports from the battlefronts. A large number of war bonds were sold, boosting the total amount sold so far to 40 per cent of the amount needed for the purchase of an LST bearing Andover's name.

The members of the crew had their meals at the Andover Inn and spent the night at the "America" House on Main street. The Cavalcade is sponsored by the savings banks of Massachusetts and is touring the state.

Permanent improvements are being made to the orchestra pit, and several other changes will be made in the garden.

Two of the members of the board of directors, Dwight D. Killam, president, and William J. Willett, assistant treasurer, are in the service, and the three remaining members, John W. Mello, vice president, of Georgetown; Horace N. Killam, Jr., secretary; and Horace N. Killam, Sr., treasurer, both of Andover, will manage this year's event. They will be assisted by Norman E. Priest of Groveland as assistant business manager.

Thrilling Chase Ends In Capture by Local Police

After a spectacular chase through the town, two young sailors, who had been AWOL for 70 days were apprehended here Monday afternoon after they tried to cash stolen war bonds at the Andover National Bank. Bail of $50,000 was set for the pair, when they were held for the Suffolk county grand jury.

Held in connection with 26 Greater Boston breaks, Seaman First Class Robert Gifun, 18, of Boston and Seaman First Class Robert L. Belleau, 19 of Salem, pleaded innocent to larceny charges when arraigned Tuesday morning in Boston municipal court.

A long record of thefts came to an end when the sailors were captured. They had $573 in cash and $1200 in bonds on their persons when picked up, in addition to a large amount of jewelry, which they told police they had purchased with some of the stolen money. Police estimated that their various breaks had netted them $10,000 in cash and war bonds. The car, which was examined by Andover police, revealed a full kit of burglar tools, and also eleven more war bonds worth $625. Also found in the car was a bag which contained some gloves and sweat-shirts and two dollars in pennies.

The apprehension of the youthful pair was brought about by Frederick W. Gould, 20 Walnut avenue, supervisor of bonds and securities at the bank. When the

NEWS OF OUR MEN AND WOMEN IN UNIFORM

T/Sgt. J. Brian Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Alexander of Summer street, has successfully established and maintained radio communications from IX Engineer Command to subordinate brigades and regiments and to Engineer Command (Prov.) USSTAF despite excessive distances and serious equipment shortages. He has, by his own tireless attention to duty, inspired the operators and radio mechanics under his leadership to work ceaselessly to insure uninterrupted communications. His exacting standards in radio procedure and security have raised the efficiency of the radio networks under his control far above par and has drawn favorable comment from both subordinate and superior organizations. While monitoring these nets, an operator of the 136th Signal Security Section noted on the report that "Net discipline is better than encountered on any previous mission" after monitoring units of all levels throughout the theater. This high standard of proficiency was accomplished by the conscientious efforts of T/Sgt. Alexander and his men who were willing to follow the pattern set by him. He has been recommended for the Bronze Star Medal.

Pvt. Mitchell P. Puchlopek, 60 Haverhill street, who has been a prisoner of war since last November, has been liberated from a German prison camp. Pvt. Puchlopek was reported missing in Italy last September, and was later reported a prisoner.

Lieut. David W. Oberlin, Hidden Road, was awarded the Silver Star Medal and the Commendation Ribbon last Friday at a special ceremony held in the Boston Navy Yard. His Silver Star citation reads as follows: "For distinguishing himself by gallantry and intrepidity in action in the line of his profession as an officer of a ship's company during a war patrol in enemy controlled waters. By his skill, intelligence, judgment, highly proficient operation and quick analysis of technical problems, Lieut. Oberlin rendered invaluable assistance to his commanding officer. In furnishing prompt and accurate information, he aided in the sinking and damaging of many tons of enemy shipping during this war patrol. WITH THE 33RD DIVISION ON LUZON — Forced to withdraw because of the numerical force of Japanese attacking his platoon's perimeter, Sgt. John Morton of Andover, Mass., picked up his 30 caliber machine gun and slowly started moving backwards just before two Nips broke into the position he had just evacuated. Letting go with a burst of machine gun fire from his hip, he killed the two enemy, both of whom fell over his tripod less than ten feet away. The Japanese — 200 strong — assaulted the flank of the platoon on which Sgt. Morton was stationed at three o'clock in the morning and were driven off an hour later after countless rifle, machine gun, mortars and hand-to-hand duels. While carrying the gun he expended about 50 rounds of ammunition at the Japanese and as he moved to a rear position, he dragged the ammunition belt right along on the ground. In the morning 45 of the determined and fanatical "Banzai" attackers were counted dead in the field of fire of Sgt. Morton's machine gun. He was given credit for the majority of them and the others were chalked up to the mortar men, who dropped shells less than 50 yards from the front of the perimeter, and rifle men on the firing line. For the assault the Japanese lost 103 men to the men in the perimeter against a few American losses. Sgt. Morton, the son of Mrs. Margaret Morton of 8 Elm court, is a member of the 130th Infantry of the 33rd Division, a veteran of three Pacific campaigns. His regimental commander is Col. Arthur S. Collins, Jr., of Boston, Mass. Following his induction into the service in February, 1942, Sgt. Morton was assigned to the 130th Infantry at Camp Forrest, Tenn. Since then, he has served with the unit in Ft. Lewis, Wash., Mojave Desert in California, Central Pacific Area, New Guinea, Netherland East Indies and on Luzon. In the latter part of June he will complete his second year of overseas duty.

Kerr A. Sparks, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kerr A. Sparks, 78 Lincoln street, was recently promoted to the rank of second lieutenant in Italy, where he has been stationed with the 87th Mountain Infantry. Lt. Sparks, who is a veteran of the Aleutians as well as Italy, holds the Purple Heart with an Oak Leaf Cluster, the Bronze Star with cluster, and the Good Conduct medal. He has been wounded twice on overseas duty.

Recently liberated from a German prison camp was Staff Sgt. William L. Small, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Small, 61 Enmore street, who has been missing in action over Austria since April 25. According to a letter received from Sgt. Small, he was forced to parachute from his Liberator bomber over Linze, Austria when his plane was damaged by flak. As they descended, several other members of the crew and Sgt. Small were injured by flak, and he is now at a hospital in France recovering from injuries to his arm. He wears the Air Medal and the Good Conduct medal and holds a unit citation.

NO. ANDOVER GARDEN CLUB HOLDS OPEN HOUSE JUNE 23

For all Andover residents who might be interested, six of the historic houses of North Andover will be open for public inspection on Saturday, June 23, under the sponsorship of the North Andover Garden Club for the benefit of the Army and Navy Relief.

The six houses are: The Governor Bradstreet house, the Phillips Brooks house and the Samuel Osgood house, all three situated on Osgood street; the Kittredge house, the Kate H. Stevens residence and the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Harry R. Dow, all of Academy road. The houses on Academy road and Osgood street are conveniently reached by either the North Andover or the Salem bus.

The oldest house for which there exists an authentic record is the Governor Bradstreet dwelling, now the residence of Mrs. Hollis R.
Bailey. The house was built in 1687 for Governor Bradstreet and his wife, Ann and their eight children and replaced an earlier home destroyed by fire in 1666.

After the death of his wife, Governor Bradstreet moved to Salem and his son, Colonel Dudley Bradstreet, occupied the house until his death. For many years the house served as the parsonage for the ministers of the North Parish Church, the church then being located near the old burying grounds on Academy road.

In 1834, the house became the property of Otis Bailey and is now occupied by a member that fam-

boys tried to cash two $100 bonds at the bank he became suspicious when he noted that the numbers on the bonds were the same as some listed as missing or stolen on a bulletin issued by the Massachusetts Bankers' Association. It was his alertness which was responsible for their remarkable capture. He became suspicious of their credentials and notified Andover police headquarters.

The telephone call was received by Officer John Deyerdmond on duty in the square. He noticed the youths running up Park street as he came up to the bank in the cruiser and gave chase. The sailors ran along Florence street and then headed up Elm street with Officer Deyerdmond in pursuit. He finally pulled along side and ordered them to "come here." They refused to do so, however, and ran into the yard of the Arthur J. Beer home on Summer street, near the corner of Elm street. Officer Deyerdmond then radioed to police headquarters and Police Chief George A. Dane joined in the chase. Chief Dane met Officer Deyerdmond on Whittier street where they lost sight of the two boys. The chief went to the home of Officer Frank McBride and ordered him to duty at headquarters, and Officer McBride in turn called James R. Lynch, also a night man, who joined the search in his own car. Other local and state police were contacted and joined in the search.

Officer Lynch drove his car to Wilson's corner in North Andover and back along Elm street by way of Whittier street, where he spotted the youths walking toward Chestnut street. He pulled up alongside and pointed ahead, asking "Going down?" The boys got in, asking where he was going. He said he was going to Reading, and the youths told him that they were going to Boston. Officer Lynch drove to Barnard street and stopped in front of the package store, making the excuse that he wanted to get something to drink. He intended to call police headquarters and get help, as he did not know whether or not the youths were armed. When he got out of the car, however, both sailors jumped out and ran away, each going in a different direction. One ran up Barnard street, and Officer Lynch gave chase and finally caught up with him and took him into custody. He took him to the Fire Department headquarters, and turned him over to Firemen Benjamin Brown and James W. Deyerdmond, while he went to give chase to the other youth.

Meanwhile, the second youth had successfully reached Main street, where he ran into Elander and Swanton's Men's Shop and purchased a suit of clothes, telling the salesman that he had stolen the sailor's uniform from his brother and wished to return it.

Having accomplished the purchase, he went across to Miller's Shoe Store and left the uniform, which he had had wrapped, saying he would be back for it. He then climbed into the rented car which the boys had left on Main street when they went into the bank, and headed up Main street. Two World War II veterans, Joseph Paine and James O'Hagen, who were standing nearby, secured his registration number and notified Officers Deyerdmond and Campbell who followed him up Main street to a place near the junction of Main and School streets, and forced the car to the curb. Refusing to be captured, the youth leaped from the car, jumped a fence near the Phillips Academy property and disappeared. Officer Campbell fired a warning shot over his head from his service revolver, and then the officers searched the vicinity, finally capturing him and bringing him to police headquarters.

The pair were questioned at police headquarters following their capture, and they admitted to carrying and told officials that they carried false identification cards including false identification cards made out in the name of one of the persons to whom the stolen bonds were registered. One of the youths also had a driver's license which he claimed to have "found", and admitted having erased the owner's name and had written in his own.

The sailors spent the night in the Andover police station, and on Tuesday morning Boston authorities came to claim them and the sailors had successfully cashed $150 worth of bonds in the Andover Savings Bank earlier in the day. Both sailors were AWOL from Newport R. I. Naval Training

We Did It

Those Boston papers go all over New England, and on Tuesday from 'way down in Maine to little Rhode Island, our town of Andover got some very nice publicity, thanks to a wide-awake bank clerk and a wide-awake police department.

The story was very interesting; a couple of sailors A. W. O. L. from Newport for months, allegedly robbing a hardware store in Boston of some cash and bonds, spending the cash and then setting off to cash the bonds. It worked in Danvers, it worked in Haverhill, it worked in Lawrence—but they should have used the by-pas instead of coming into Andover.

To Fred Gould of the Andover National goes all of the credit for the initial discovery of the two youthful thieves. His alertness saved his own bank and other banks a sizeable sum in losses. The ruse that worked in other banks didn't trick Fred; an erased signature on a navy identification police was responsible for the apprehension of the two sailors after they had left the bank.

card looked mighty suspicious to him, and his quick summoning of Reserve Officer Jimmy Lynch deserves much of the glory, too. He's very well thought of anyway, and has proven himself in many ways. He certainly proved his alertness Monday afternoon when he stopped the car and caught one of the sailors. Officers Deymond and Campbell too deserve their share of praise for catching the second sailor.

It really felt good to see the police station filled with state police officers and lieutenants from the Boston force, and to realize that with such a formidable force in town, our own men did the real job.

It's a pretty good town after all. We've always felt it was the best town going, and every once in a while somebody like Fred, Jimmy and the two Johns come along to prove it.

Mothers' Club in Last Meeting of Season

The Andover Mothers' Club held its last meeting of the season on Wednesday afternoon at the home of President Mrs. Fred L. Collins. Routine business was transacted.

Election of officers was held at this time, with the following officers being elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Fred L. Collins; first vice-president, Mrs. George F. Symonds; second vice-president, Mrs. Ann Smith; secretary, Mrs. Louise Simeone; treasurer, Mrs. Asa Stocks; auditor, Mrs. Henry Albers; directors: Mrs. Emile Dufresne, Mrs. William Coupe and Mrs. Michael Bell; gifts and cards, Mrs. Alexander Crockett and press correspondent, Mrs. John A. Polgreen.

It was voted to hold a Penny Social at the home of Mrs. Earle Powers, South Main street, on Thursday afternoon, July 12th. Play will start at 2 o'clock. Anyone desirous of attending this social should plan to take the 1:15 P. M. bus from the Andover Square. The committee in charge will be Mrs. George F. Symonds, Mrs. Asa Stocks, Mrs. Ann Smith and Mrs. Powers.

The annual picnic will be held at Salem Willows on Tuesday, July 17th. More definite plans for this picnic will be announced within a week or so.

Another Penny Social will be held on Tuesday afternoon, August 21st, at the home of Mrs. Alexander Crockett of South Main st. Play will start at 2 o'clock. The committee in charge will be Mrs. William Coupe, Mrs. Henry Albers, Mrs. Thomas Platt and Mrs. Crockett.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the following members of the club, Mrs. Michael Bell, Mrs. Alexander Crockett and Mrs. Paul Schmottlach.

COMMENDS PUNCHARD

A letter has been received by Superintendent of Schools Edward I. Erickson, from Henry J. Courtemanche of Hudson, in which he expresses his appreciation and the thanks of the committee which recently toured the Memorial Gymnasium-Auditorium in conjunction with their plans to build a similar unit in their own town.

In his letter Mr. Courtemanche stated "We learned a great deal from you. We compliment you all on the appearance and maintenance of your plant, and we feel that we could not have picked a better one for our initial appraisal of what other communities have done to provide educational facilities."

BIBLE QUIZ

Plans are being made for a Bible Quiz to be held under the auspices of the Free Church Sunday School to be held early in the fall.

There will be two contests, one for the Juniors and one for the Seniors and Intermediates. First, second and third prizes will be given to the winners in each group. A series of questions is being made up by a committee, and from this list, the director of the quiz will pick some at random. The children of the Sunday School were each given a copy of the questions to study during the summer months.

The committee in charge of the questions consists of: Thomas Thin, Margaret Laurie and George Keith.

Punchard Alumni Holds Annual Reunion, Banquet

The annual reunion and banquet of the Punchard Alumni Association was held Wednesday evening at the school. The alumni assembled in the Punchard building at 6 o'clock and marched into the school cafeteria for dinner at 6:30.

The class of 1895 was awarded the bouquet for the highest percentage of attendance for classes out of school more than 25 years, and the class of 1920, observing its 25th reunion, received the bouquet for the highest percentage of attendance for classes out 25 years or less.

The brief business meeting was presided over by President William A. Doherty, Class of '25. The report of the secretary was read by Mrs.

THANKS!

V. F. W., Andover Post No. 2128, wishes to thank all those who assisted with or made contributions to their recent Poppy Day drive.

Alice B. Nell, '39, and the treasurer's report was read by Miss Bessie Dantos, '44. Mr. Doherty read the report of the trustees of the alumni funds in the absence of the trustees. Miss Mary C. Simeone, '37, reported for the nominating committee and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, William A. Doherty, '25; vice president, Monica L. Coleman, '39; secretary, Frances M. Reidy, '41; treasurer, Bessie Dantos, '44; executive board, Ruth Anderson, Gladys Deyermond, Teresa Nolet, Janet Gillen, Joseph Payne, Mary E. Gates, Dorothy Souter, Mary C. Simeone, Elinor Innes, James Deyermond, Everilda Collins, and Randlett Emmons; trustee of the trust funds for three years, Mary E. Gates.

During the dinner hour, Harold Phinney provided music, playing recordings of many of the old-time favorites with the gathering joining in on the choruses.

Mr. Doherty read a telegram from Nathan C. Hamblin, former principal, expressing regrets that, because of his illness, he and Mrs. Hamblin were unable to attend. He also announced that the alumni scholarship of $100 for this year had been awarded to Charles Hayward, who will attend Dartmouth College.

The speakers for the occasion were Chairman Arthur R. Lewis of the School Committee, Superintendent of Schools Edward I. Erickson, Rev. John S. Moses, rector of Christ church and member of the School Committee, and the trustees of Punchard High School and Principal Eugene V. Lovely.

Mr. Lewis stated that several of the town's school buildings are now out-moded and should be discarded and replaced by new buildings. He spoke in particular of the necessity for a new school at the Central plant. This, he said, "is not a fantastical idea, and the fine new buildings in the Center should be complemented by a new grade school building."

Mr. Erickson spoke of his experiences during the past three years in Andover and expressed his and Mrs. Erickson's appreciation for the cooperation and many kindnesses shown them. Mr. Moses favored with several interesting stories, and the final address was given by Mr. Lovely, who is completing his 34th year at Punchard. He discussed scholarship, which he said requires two things, first, ability, then the will to do. He said that a survey made last year of those graduating attending higher schools of learning showed a remarkable record on the part of these students, and this, he said, "is the only real measuring stick which we have."

He spoke of the boys who have gone into the service and the gathering stood while he read the list of the 21 Punchard boys who have made the supreme sacrifice in this war. He reviewed the activities of the school year and spoke in particular of the good which has come from the oral English class. He expressed appreciation to the graduating class for its gift of $175 to the school.

THE 7TH WAR LOAN IS ON!

Yes, the Seventh War Loan is on right now!

There are new planes to be built... new tanks... new ships. All to bring the war to an earlier close.

Our fighting men will do their job. But we must do ours!

And right now, the most important job we have is to meet our personal quotas in the Seventh War Loan drive!

Those quotas are big. Uncle Sam needs $7,000,000,000 from individuals. For this loan is really 2 in 1—there had been 2 drives in 1944, by this time. So now—we've got to do a two-loan job in one.

But Americans have never failed to meet a War Bond quota yet—and we won't fail now! So find out what your quota is—and meet it!
